To Expand Probe Of ITT Action

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Judiciary Committee voted 8-7 today to expand its investigation of the activities of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and to end the probe April 20.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss. said the hearings will resume Monday and will include allegations by Life magazine on improprieties by the Justice Department in addition to the qualifications of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

The vote came on a motion made Thursday by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., which was a compromise between proposals made by Sens. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., and John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

The inquiry began March 2 at Kleindienst's request to clear up allegations made by columnist Jack Anderson.

Most committee members predicted Thursday that Byrd's proposal would be approved.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said the committee would have a week after the hearing ended to submit to Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield a revised report on the nomination of Kleindienst.

The committee had approved unanimously the nomination of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general in late February. but Mansfield has held up full Senate action because of the current inquiry.

Shortly after the committee approved the nomination, Anderson published an alleged interoffice memo and an interview with ITT lobbyist Dita Beard, linking the out-of-court settlement of three antitrust cases against the giant conglomerate with its financial guarantee to San Diego for next summer's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst asked the committee to reopen the hearings so that he could answer Anderson's accusations about Justice Department improprieties.

Democratic Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachussetts and John Tunney of California have submitted a list of some 60 witnesses they want to testify before the hearings are terminated.

During the closed hearings Thursday. according to Kennedy, the committee agreed that at least 38 of the witnesses on the list were acceptable but it was unlikely that all of them could be called in two

Among the witnesses labeled as "clearly necessary" by the Democrats are White House aides Peter Flanigan and William Timmons. The White House has said it will bar them from appearing before the com-

In another turn in the case, Tunney released what he called a transcript of an interview held March 3 between Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., and Robert E. Cox, a reporter for the San Diego Union.

The transcript quoted Wilson as saying Mrs. Beard wrote a memo linking the ITT financial commitment to the convention with the out-of-court settlement of antitrust suits.

Reached on the Island of Antiqua. Wilson was asked if Mrs. Beard ever linked the ITT pledge with the settlement. He replied: "She never told me that, and I never said she did." But he said Mrs. Beard had written a memo.

KNOB NOSTER - Members of the 351st Strategic Missile Wing at Whiteman AFB departed Thursday for Vandenberg AFB, Calif., where they are participating in the 1972 Strategic Air Command Missile Combat Competition through April 14.

"Olympic Arena '72," title of this year's competition, will see Whiteman's 351st attempt to win the title "Best in SAC" for the second consecutive year.

Whiteman AFB, one of nine SAC missile wings, captured the title in 1967, first year of the annual competition, and repeated last year. It also had the Best Minuteman Maintenance Team in 1971.

Competing this year will be four combat crews and a composite maintenance team from each of the six Minuteman and three Titan II missile wings.

Launch crews and maintenance teams will be monitored and observed during testing and evaluation of a simulated missile launch situation. They will be rated against pretested standards, including accuracy, speed and precision.

Although missiles will not be launched as part of the competition, an actual Minuteman missile launch is scheduled during the latter phase of the competition.

Continued Bombing Promised By Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today condemned the North Vietnamese attack as a "massive invasion of South Vietnam." And he warned that the United States will continue its bombing until the enemy withdraws.

Laird told a news conference the heavy American air attacks against North Vietnam will go on until the Communists pull their troops back across the demilitarized zone and show a willingness to negotiate peace.

He also implied that the United States will not return to the Paris peace talks until these conditions were met.

"The enemy has scornfully rejected the American people's patience, restraint and desire for peace," he said. "Our patience has been met with propaganda and with provocation. Our restraint has been answered by invasion."

Using the strongest language of any senior administration official since the North Vietnamese offensive opened a week ago, Laird said the enemy "has dared us to abandon our allies and we will not."

"The enemy has escalated this threat and we are responding," the Defense secretary

The United States, he said, "has made a conscious decision in the face of this invasion to use American naval and air power" to protect withdrawing U.S. forces and to support the South Vietnamese. He declined to disclose what other measures are being taken to beef up the American forces in Southeast Asia, but made clear that U.S. ground troops would not be involved. The troop withdrawals will continue and President Nixon's plan to reduce American troop strength to 69,000 by May 1 in South Vietnam, will be accomplished, he said.

Meanwhile, it was learned that a number of air units from several states have been alerted for possible deployment to the war zone.

One squadron of F105 all-weather jet attack planes from McConnell Air Force Base, Kan., was ordered across the Pacific Thursday, and it is believed that a fifth aircraft carrier, possibly the Midway will be sent to the battle zone within the next few days, joining four others now on

The Nixon administration has emphasized a number of times this week that although it is keeping its options open. the battle action will not stop American troop withdrawals.

But expanded air and naval support of the South Vietnamese is another matter. Twenty B52 bombers were flown from their American bases to Southeast Asia earlier this week, and two additional aircraft carriers steamed into the area.

Nearly all the U.S. planes in Southeast Asia were thrown into the massive aerial attack against North Vietnam Thursday before the Pentagon ordered still more reinforcements.

The Pentagon refused to discuss the latest aircraft movements because of "security purposes." But some officials hinted that even more American-based air units may be sent to the war zone in the next few days.

"We will take whatever precautionary measures are necessary to protect remaining U.S. forces in Vietnam," said a Pentagon spokesman.

Some administration analysts say the increasing capability of Saigon forces has allowed the United States to carefully measure its response. This means, they indicated, that President Nixon has been able to avoid the politically dangerous decision of ordering a full-scale air attack against the North.

In a speech Thursday to the Overseas Writers Club, Adm Thomas H. Moorer Jr., chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the initial U.S. air strikes penetrated 40 to 50 miles north of the demilitarized zone

Hikes In Wholesale Prices Are Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The total number of Americans with jobs posted the largest gain in March in nearly five years and the rise in wholesale prices slowed sharply, the government reported today.

Wholesale prices are generally indicators of later developments in retail consumer costs.

The report that total employment rose 620,000 to 81.2 million and that wholesale prices of food and industrial raw materials increased a modest one-tenth of one per cent indicated more favorable developments for President Nixon to defend his economic policies

The reports by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics also said that the nation's unemployment rate edged up from 5.7 to 5.9 per cent last month, but this was due to seasonal factors and the actual number of jobless edged down some 200,000 to 5.2 million.

The report on wholesale prices included the news that farm products and processed foods declined four-tenths of one per cent in March after several months of sharp increases.

The over-all one-tenth of one per cent increase in the wholesale price index was the smallest in five months and followed three consecutive sharp increases of eighttenths each in December and January and nine-tenths in February.

The report on jobs said half the employment gain was among men and was their largest monthly gain in more than five years. Another one-third of the gain in jobs went to teen-agers and the rest to women.

The report also said average hourly earnings of some 45 million rank-andfile workers, more than half the nation's total work force, rose two cents in March to $3.57. This was 21 cents or 6.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The rise in hourly earnings plus a small increase in the length of the average work week boosted average rank-and-file pay by $1.09 per week to $131.73, the report said.

The gain in the average weekly paycheck was placed at $8.08 or 6.5 per cent above a year earlier. But rising living costs of 3.7 per cent over the year reduced the gain in purchasing power to $3.21 or 2.8 per cent. Increases in employment, earnings and hours of work are generally viewed as signs of economic growth. The modest rise in the wholesale price index brought it to 117.4 of its 1967 base.

This means that, on the average, wholesale goods worth $100 five years ago now cost $117.40. The index was 3.9 per cent above a Sharply lower prices for fresh and dried vegetables and a substantial drop in hog quotations after earlier advances were chiefly responsible for the decline in the farm products index," the report said.

"These decreases were moderated principally by advances for eggs, oil seeds, fluid milk and grains," it added.

"Lower meat prices were almost entirely responsible for the decline in the processed foods and feeds index," it said. Meat prices in the last consumer price report for February had increased sharply following earlier wholesale rises.

Cardiac Tests For Preparing Response Former President To Proposal

CHARLOTTESVILLE. Va. (AP) Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was admitted to the University of Virginia Hospital's cardiac unit early today suffering from chest pains.

Dr. Richard S. Crampton, associate professor of internal medicine at the hospital here and Johnson's physician, said the former president is comfortable, his condition stable, and he is undergoing

Dr. Crampton declined to say specifically that the 63-year-old ex-president had suffered a heart attack.

Johnson had been visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robb, in this university city and apparently began suffering chest pains shortly before 4

A rescue squad was summoned and, about 4 a.m., a mobile coronary care unit from the University of Virginia Hospital was sent to the Robb home in the fashionable Farmington section outside Charlottesville

Johnson was brought to the hospital about 5:30 a.m., members of the family

Johnson had planned to go from here to Washington Saturday to attend a wedding. He had arrived at the Robb home Thursday.

Rape, Assault Case Ends With Arrests

(Democrat-Capital Service) LEXINGTON - A 19-year-old Denton. Tex., girl early Friday morning identified an Odessa man and a Kansas City man who allegedly raped her on a county road southwest of I-70 near Concordia around 8 p.m. Thursday. According to reports, Donna Ross and Ira E. Schwartz, 22, Amherst, N.Y., were hitch-hiking to New York when they were picked up by the two men.

Although identified by the girl, it was learned from the Lafayette County sheriff's department that the two men, who were not identified, are being held in the county jail for investigation of assault and rape. A sheriff's department spokesman said details of the incident would be turned over to the Lafayette County prosecutor some time Friday afternoon, when formal charges may be filed.

Miss Ross and Schwartz were picked up in the Kansas City area and driven as far as the Junction of Route T and I-70, where Schwartz was allegedly beaten

The two identified by Miss Ross reportedly left Schwartz at the intersection and drove away with the girl. They headed southwest on Route T, where the assault allegedly took place.

Officials from the sheriff's department said the girl apparently was not harmed in any other way. She was examined by a Lexington physician, but the results of the examination were not released

Following the alleged rape, the girl apparently made her way to a farm house and notified the sheriff's department. In the meantime. Schwartz was taken to the Sweet Springs Community Hospital and treated for minor cuts and abrasions. He was released to law enforcement officials and gave them a description of the car and the two men. Then, about 12:15 a.m. Friday, Odessa police and the sheriff's department stopped a car fitting the description given by Schwartz. At 3 a.m. Friday, Miss Ross reportedly identified the two men as her

Red War Effort Continues To Gain Momentum

SAIGON (AP) - North Vietnamese troops captured a district town 75 miles north of Saigon today and opened a fourth front in their nine-day-old offensive with more than a dozen attacks on towns and bases in the Mekong Delta to the south. U.S. warplanes meanwhile hammered North Vietnamese forces in North and South Vietnam and neighboring stretches of Laos with more than 600 strikes. Two Navy fighter-bombers and a big rescue mand said, and six Americans were missing. South Vietnamese garrison surrendered

The district town of Loc Ninh fell after fighting so close that an air spotter overhead reported the defending South Vietnamese were calling artillery fire in on their own positions.

The spotter reported eight to ten North Vietnamese tanks attacking the town, and later the South Vietnamese command announced that Loc Ninh was abandoned during the morning after four days of heavy

Warrensburg Native Returning To Nigeria

In Yoruba Costume

Miss Sue Thompson, a native of Warrensburg, will take a plane at Kansas City Sunday en route to Nigeria in west Africa where she will teach English and direct religious activities at the Niger Baptist College. She attended Hubbard School in Sedalia before Warrensburg schools were desegregated. Miss Thompson is returning to Nigeria after a year's furlough in Warrensburg. Her first term as a missionary in Nigeria was from 1968 to '71. The Yoruba tribal costume displayed by Miss Thompson consists of gele (head piece), buba (blouse) and Iro (Democrat-Capital Photo)

THIS IS SEDALIA'S FRIENDLY CHURCH and be uplifted by our worship service message.

By P. C. THOMAS Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

WARRENSBURG - Before the 1955 school desegregation. about 25 black high schoolers from here used to be bused nearly 30 miles every weekday to Sedalia's Hubbard High School. One of them was Miss Sue Thompson, then a ninth

Today, Miss Thompson, 30, holds three college degrees, and is the Southern Baptist Convention's first and only black foreign missionary. From 1968 to '71 she directed the religious activities and taught English at the Niger Baptist College in Minna, Nigeria. She is now completing a year's furlough here and plans to leave for Nigeria Sunday.

Being the only black foreign missionary from a predominantly white denomination of over 11 million members makes Miss Thompson's mission to Africa significant for more than one reason. "Blacks in the Southern Baptist Convention number probably less than 1 per cent." said Miss Thompson who was raised in the predominantly black National Baptist denomination.

She is the daughter of the late Lloyd J. Thompson and Mrs. George H. Brown of Warrensburg.

When Miss Thompson returns to Nigeria and resumes her missionary work, she will once again become to her African friends an authority on race relations in America. She recalled how, during her last four-year term in Nigeria, her students used to ask probing questions on U.S. racial tension. I would first agree with them that there is racial inequality here and that it's bad. Then I would explain the causes."

Commenting on the current school busing controversy, she complained, "It didn't seem to concern the whites until white students were affected."

In some of the numerous speeches she has given across Missouri, during her furlough. Miss Thompson would ask how many in the audience have read the book, "Your God Is Too White," by Columbus Salley and Ronald Behm. When very few respond positively, she

for its apathy toward race relations

The much-talked-about problem of some black Americans not being able to identify with a "white Jesus" doesn't seem to bother "most of the people I've worked with in Nigeria," Miss Thompson said. However, the Nigerians identify with black Americans in their struggle for equality." she pointed out.

Because America professes to be a democratic and a Christian nation, Nigerians are highly critical of the racism that exists in America." Christian work in Africa done by American missionaries is "definitely hindered" because 'Africans feel very strongly on this issue," she said.

The instant identification and friendliness Miss Thompson received from the Nigerian people is reflected in the endearing names they gave her 'Omodelle (child returns home) and "Ajoke" (we will pet you, care for you, throw our arms around you.)

as I labored together with my discipleship.

would chide the silent majority Nigerian brothers and sisters in the task of nation building." she recalled. "They were always saying. 'You're one of us,' and even suggested that I marry one of them and settle down in Nigeria," she said. In these days of deceptive skin make-up, "bush people" in Nigeria have a foolproof method of testing the authenticity of one's color. Sometimes they would rub my skin to see if my color would rub off," she said.

How did Miss Thompson get interested in foreign missions? was influenced by relationships established with African students during my school days at Central Missouri State College here. I developed close ties with students from Kenya who were at the college mostly listening to their talking about their country.

Miss Thompson was active in the Baptist Student Union at CMSC where she served as missions chairman and learned to "take a serious approach to Christianity" and "found out "I felt a strong sense of pride the true meaning of their aspirations.

While a student, Miss Thompson served as a summer missionary in New Orleans, La. There I saw the needs of the people. A scripture verse had a great influence in my making a definite decision. Seemed that God was speaking directly to me in Jeremiah 8:20. The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved'." A charming and articulate person. Miss Thompson holds B.S. and M.A. degrees from CMSC and a Master's in Religious Education from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. She was a secondary school teacher in Kansas City from 1962 to '64.

At the 1970 Inter-Varsity Missionary Conference at Urbana, Ill., which is America's largest missionary gathering. recruiting more black Americans for missionary work overseas was a much-discussed topic. While conference speakers decried missionary work motivated by "the white man's burden," they saw the value of the new strategy of sending black missionaries with the Christian message of reconciliation

Miss Thompson agreed this was a healthy trend and expressed the hope that there will be improved missionary education among blacks. There is the need for improved recruitment of blacks into seminaries and an awareness on the part of white Christians of the advantages in sending blacks as foreign missionaries," she observed.

She said even in this postcolonial era, one can discern the ill effects of "lingering paternalism" shown by white missionaries toward African natives. "Nigerians resent this manifestation of superiority complex. This is more evident in relations between African and white western nations." she pointed out.

Miss Thompson said she is looking forward to returning to Nigeria and working among her friends at the college.

Among her staple food in Nigeria will be Eko (fried corn flour mould) for breakfast, Akara (fried ground beans mixed with raw pepper), Iyan (pounded yam), and "plenty of Dodo," a plantain-like fruit.

described the attack as serious. His illness kept him from returning to the Senate for several weeks. He left the hospital Aug. 24, 1955 to return to Texas and complete his convalescence.

On March 2, 1970, he again was jolted awake early in the morning with chest pains and rushed from his ranch home, 65 miles west of Austin, to Brooke General Hospital in San Antonio. Doctors later decided it was not a heart attack but pains caused by hardening of the heart arteries. He spent 12 days in the hospital.

The last stay of the former president in a hospital was in January 1971, when he spent three days in Brooke Army General with what his doctors called "mild viral pneumonia." He was taken by helicopter from his ranch to the hospital suffering from a fever and a persistent cough. His physician said his heart was not affected.

See Diplomatic Break As Diversionary Move

BEIRUT (AP) - Egypt's break in diplomatic relations with Jordan is an attempt by President Anwar Sadat to divert attention from his failure to make good on his promise to get the Sinai Desert back by the end of 1971 or go to war with

The Egyptian leader told a special session of the guerrilla-dominated Palestine National Council in Cairo Thursday night that King Hussein's plan to create a Palestinian state is a betrayal of the Arab cause and Egypt had no choice but to break relations.

Sadat told the wildly cheering crowd that Egypt "is holding wide consultations to bring about joint Arab action against King Hussein's deviation from Arab unity." He suggested Israeli's deputy premier, Yigal Allon, had a role in the king's action.

There have been numerous reports. repeatedly denied by both sides, of meetings between Hussein and Allon, who suggested a peace settlement with Jordan similar to the one the monarch proposed

Egypt's federation partners, Libya and Syria, cut ties with Jordan after Hussein cracked down on the Palestinian guerrillas in his kingdom in 1970 and then drove them out last July. But Sadat's move could threaten the Hashemite kingdom's economic future and its air links with

Three More Are Killed In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) -Three persons were killed by bombs and bullets in Northern Ireland today despite conciliatory gestures by the British government.

It was the worst day of violence since London took control of the embattled province two weeks ago. A soldier was killed by a sniper in the Ballymurphy district of Belfast. Across the quarter, two men who reportedly were loading explosives into a car died in an

The deaths came as Britain's administrator in Northern Ireland ordered 73 of the province's 700 Roman Catholic internees released and announced plans to stop using the ship Maidstone as a floating prison in Belfast harbor.

"I hope that today's release may herald the beginning of a phasing-out of internment," said William Whitelaw, adding that the move was his "contribution at this early stage to a reduction in tension." He said figures for those released will be issued regularly.

The 132 men aboard the Maidstone had entered the ninth day of a hunger strike protesting their internment without trial and the food was contaminated.

All the internees are being held on suspicion of belonging to the Irish Republican Army. The Catholic minority has demanded they be freed, and when Britain announced last month it was taking over the Ulster government it said it would do all it could to meet that demand

Gerry Fitt, the leader of Northern Ireland's pro-Catholic political party, the Social Democratic and Labor party, called Whitelaw's concessions "an important step in the right direction." But Catholic and Protestant extremists showed they did not intend to heed calls for reconciliation. Rory O'Brady, political leader of the IRA's Provisional wing, said in a broadcast from Dublin: "The fight must continue. even though more lives will be lost.'

announced a two-week campaign of hunger strikes, public meetings and picket lines in

The Ulster Vanguard, the right wing Protestant group pledged to keep Ulster British, said its plans for rent strikes and industrial protest action were at an advanced stage.

Two bombs exploded simultaneously before noon in the city, injuring three persons. Two men left a package in the office of a downtown gas station and gave the staff 30 seconds to leave. Two women and a man were hurt in the blast, which followed almost immediately

The American air armada was strengthened by the arrival in the Gulf of Tonkin of the carrier Constellation, giving the U.S. Command four carriers on station there for the first time since before the bombing halt in late 1968.

About 200 of the day's 600 air strikes were against targets in North Vietnam, and official sources disclosed that current plans call for the heavy raids on the North to continue for two to three weeks unless Hanoi backs off its offensive.

Nearly 300 more U.S. fighter-bomber missions and more than 50 B52 strikes were flown across South Vietnam, and about 50 more hit the Ho Chi Minh supply trail through southeastern Laos.

The U.S. Command announced the first casualties in the air attack on the North that began Thursday. It said two Navy A7s were downed by surface-to-air missiles near Dong Hoi, 45 miles north of the DMZ. It also reported a big rescue helicopter shot down south of the DMZ and said enemy shore batteries slightly damaged the destroyer Lloyd Thomas as it was shelling the coast.

Six Americans were missing in the air crashes, one flier was rescued and three men in the destroyer crew were injured.

Parochial Aid Plan Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court will be asked to define how government can support church-run schools, but President Nixon may come up with his own solution first.

Nixon went to Philadelphia Thursday to strengthen his pledge to develop an "equitable, workable and constitutional" method to funnel government dollars into nonpublic schools.

In the same city a few hours later, a three-judge federal court struck down a sevenmonth-old Pennsylvania law which sent nonpublic school aid to parents, rather than to the schools. The law was the result of specific efforts to tailor provisions to earlier Supreme Court guidelines.

John Cardinal Krol, archbishop of the Philadelphia Roman Catholic Archdiocese, said the ruling would be appealed to the Supreme Court, which held last June that some forms of government aid to church schools are constitutional.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A federal investigator in charge of U. S. Treasury agents probing Monday night's fatal explosion in downtown Tulsa has hinted the explosion may not have been accidental.

Nolan Douglas, area supervisor of the Alcohol-Tobacco-Firearms Division of the Treasury Department, said Thursday night it looks as if the explosive which killed Isco Totten, 40, and seriously injured Paul Williams, 29, had been concealed inside the passenger door.

Douglas also revealed that Tulsa police have found what are believed to be fragments of battery casing and lead wire which could have been used to trigger a bomb. The auto's battery was intact after the Coupled with Douglas' state-

Split Nearly Even Over Fluoridation

The voting results on the fluoridation advisory ballot in Tuesday's city election go beyond a simple "passed" or "defeated" interpretation.

Of a total of 4,909 ballots cast on the question, the negative votes outnumbered the positive ones by only 145.

Looking at it another way, two wards of the city expressed their approval of fluoridation, while two disapproved the idea. The vote split east and west Sedalia into two camps on the issue.

From the standpoint of what it was designed to do, the advisory ballot on fluoridation was a distinct success. It brought out a large number of voters, compared to voting patterns on other candidates and measures, and has given the mayor and City Council a good idea of the community's feelings.

Fluoridation is still a viable concept in Sedalia. Had local citizens expressed themselves strongly as being against the practice, it would be a different story. But this was not the case.

The City Council would be remiss if it interprets Tuesday's election returns as a mandate to put fluoridation back on the shelf for another couple of decades.

One Sedalia dentist recently made the statement that if others could see the appalling dental problems that he and his colleagues see every day, problems that could be prevented in significant measure by fluoridation, then opposition to the practice might tend to disappear.

This is a good point, and one we should keep uppermost in our minds as the time comes that Sedalia again considers fluoridation for its citizens.

One More Fiction About Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — When the historians look at the Vietnam war genera ons from now, one question is bound to befuddle them: Did American officials really believe all that optimism they fed their people, or were they deliberately exploiting public gullibility?

military offensive has shown anew that recent rosy reports about the success of "Vietnamization" and the "weakness" of the enemy were just as misleading as all the other lines fed to a now-dismayed American public.

The new Communist

The administration has been predicting a major Communist assault on Vietnam for months — obviously trying to cushion the shock to the American people.

But the current attacks, portrayed so starkly in those television scenes of American military advisers running pellmell for evacuation helicopters and endless strings of South Vietnamese refugees desperately seeking sanctuaries, have still jolted millions of Americans.

The trouble is that, even while predicting a Communist offensive, American officials kept talking about how the Communists had been battered to the point that they were incapable of launching a major offensive; they kept talking about what a potent military machine "Vietnamization" had produced.

Now those reports out of Quang Tri province make it clear that South Vietnamese ground troops are no match for North Vietnamese forces unless the South has massive U.S. air support, and may not be a match even with that support.

"Vietnamization" seems destined to take its place in that long lexicon of flimflammery which has been used for almost two decades to make wishful thinking resemble reality.

* * * Way back in 1954 there was "the Navarre plan" devised by Gen. Henri-Eugene Navarre, commander of French forces. which John Foster Dulles said would "break the organized body of Communist aggression by the end of 1955." There was the chieu hoi (open arms) program in the 1960s which supposedly was luring masses of Viet Cong insurgents back into the government's embrace. There was the 'pacification' program the Johnson administration touted so convincingly that even President Nixon declared (Feb. 18, 1970): "The pacification program is succeeding." And there were the "protective reaction" strikes, a new euphemism for bombing the enemy, which were supposed to "interdict" enemy supply lines and make it impossible for the Communists to assemble for a major military thrust.

Unhappily, all these plans and schemes have turned out to be mumbo-jumbo designed to keep the natives back home from getting too restless, especially in election years. But it must be obvious to President Nixon that he faces a new problem of Vietnam becoming a major political issue again.

The recent Communist drive makes several things apparent:

Mr. Nixon's journey to China was a gamble that failed to pay off insofar as he may have held hope that Peking's leaders would decide, if only secretly, to pressure Hanoi toward a negotiated settlement. The President's Indochina problems have worsened since his trip to China, and the likelihood is that the road out of Indochina will become rougher in the months just ahead.

Vietnam through the easy process of negotiating an agreement in Paris that would permit them to take over bit by bit. They seem determined to embarrass Mr. Nixon personally and politically and to humiliate Uncle Sam by imposing what the whole world will recognize as a major defeat for the United States.

President Nixon has said he will not be the President to preside over the first U.S. defeat in her proud history. He may face the choice of enduring that defeat or of taking such major military steps that he no longer can say he is "winding down the war."

Massive bombings which add substantially to the number of GI prisoners of war or ground combat action which boosts the number of U.S. casualties would create such wide reaction in the United States as to make Vietnam a serious campaign issue again. Yet to do so little that Hanoi succeeds in what the administration has called an "invasion" carries political risks, too.

Whatever the President decides to do, he will have a difficult time explaining and selling it to an American public which is more and more disinclined to believe anyone or anything about Vietnam.

'Nukes' Are Options In Viet Withdrawal

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — If the Communist offensive should threaten the orderly withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam, President Nixon is prepared to use nuclear weapons against the attackers.

We reported on March 1, 1971, that contingency plans had been drafted for nuclear warfare in Indochina. Competent sources stressed that nuclear weapons would be used only as a last resort if the President concluded there were no other way to save our boys.

We can now report that the contingency plans have been constantly revised and updated. Like pre-written newspaper obituaries, they are ready in case the dwindling U.S. forces should be pushed into a Dunkirk-like corner.

The secret plans call for using "nukes" of different magnitude, depending on the targets. "An air blast or a ground blast" might be used, say our sources. This would be determined by how much we wanted to limit the destruction.

Our key sources, for their own protection, have asked us to withhold their identities. But a former sergeant, who worked on the contingency plans, not only has agreed to let us name him but has offered to testify before Congress on the nuclear targeting.

He is James Walkley, a former Air Force sergeant, who used to work on target planning at Hickam Field in Hawaii. His specialty was Laos.

The nuclear targeting, he told us, is done in "a special little room. You have to have an SI (Special Intelligence) clearance to get inside."

"I worked with the people, so I knew what they were doing," Walkley said. "With a nuke, you'd have to drop a certain type on a certain type of target."

The plans were constantly worked over, he said, although it sometimes seemed to him that the Air Force merely "wanted to keep the guys busy."

Walkley said he had provided target information to the nuclear experts. although his main job was targeting conventional bombing.

He could name others who labored over the nuclear contingency plans, he said, but couldn't guarantee they would testify.

Footnote: The former sergeant was kicked out of his top-secret job in 1970 after he became distressed with his target-planning role and began to work against the Vietnam war. He was courtmartialed but acquitted, and then given an honorable discharge.

Suspicious Travelers — When Mrs. Helen Hays, a Chinese-American educator, traveled to China for a visit, the FBI began checking into her activities. The agents said it was "routine" for the FBI to look into all visitors to China who were "suspected of being friendly with Communist China." At about the same time, another American visitor was expressing friendly feelings toward the Chinese Communists. However, the FBI presumably will not investigate President Nixon.

Barbour Cut — The State Department secretly sought to get Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., to change a statement he made in closed session of a House committee studying the Mideast. Commenting on the abilities of Ambassador to Israel Walworth Barbour. Wolff remarked that "the job may be too much for Mr. Barbour."

Disturbed, the State Department tried to get Wolff to soften or eliminate his criticism. But Wolff balked, and the statement will be printed as he gave it.

Laziness Standards — Officials at a Navy

medical dispensary in Norfolk, Va., claim to have found a connection between long hair and laziness. Failure to observe hair standards as spelled out by Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, wrote the dispensary officials, "carries connotations of laziness, inattention to details, recalcitrance, or a lack of personal pride, real or affected." Now that's a real advance in scientific knowledge. The logical conclusion is that our longhaired forefathers must have been positively slothful. And most women, to use the Navy's logic, must be lazier than men.

Marks Plans — Four years ago, Leonard Marks invited the leaders of Peking to send newsmen to the U.S. to cover the 1968 presidential campaign. He was then the U.S. Information Agency chief. Now as a lawyer in private practice, he is renewing the proposal. He believes it would be useful for the Chinese Communists "to see how Americans choose their President." The uncensored Chinese newscasts, he suggests, should be beamed into China on the Voice of America.

Humphrey's Women — Sen. Hubert Humphrey has instructed his campaign staff to "include more and more women in our organizational structure and in our plans." In a confidential memo, he declared: "I will condone no tokenism. In other words, we are not going to have just one woman for display in a top position, or one black or one youth. I believe in the involvement of people on the basis of their ability. And since women have been so selectively excluded not only in government but in industry and academic life, it will be necessary to place extra emphasis upon the appointment and selection of women. The same applies to racial minorities."

Missouri now has a new law on the books that might take some people's twisted ideas of fun out of Halloween, thanks to Sen. Ike Skelton.

The senator's bill, which sailed quickly through the General Assembly without a dissenting vote, plugged a hole in existing statutes by making it a crime for any person to place harmful objects in food with the intent to injure another. Offenders can get up to 10 years.

Skelton's bill grew partly out of Sedalia's experience a couple of Halloweens ago, when trick-or-treat apples were found to have razor blades imbedded in them.

An Amtrak conductor told me that the early eastbound departure time from Kansas City was hurting patronage, so the change should be an improvement.

I say again—if you haven't tried Amtrak. do so. It's a great way to go.

The Senate went home at noon Thursday with the ogre of the budget bills looming ahead.

The Senate Appropriations Committee slashed deeply into the bills as passed earlier by the House. Wednesday when the budget was brought up for debate the Senate put back $15 million the committee had cut from state school aid.

Then the Senate sent all the bills back to committee for reconsideration of other cuts, including those for schools, welfare, mental health, the Conservation Department and all other agencies.

Whatever happens in the Senate on the budget bills, however, they must be sent to a House-Senate conference committee if a compromise is reached by the budget deadline of April 22

The House dragged through an afternoon of minor bills after passing one major one.

It is the so-called circuitbreaker bill to give a tax break to Missourians over 65 years of age. It provides for income tax credits or cash rebates if the property owner does not file an income tax rebate. It also considers 25 per cent of an elderly resident's rental cost as taxes.

Time For Travel Is Approved

The Sedalia Industrial Development Board held its monthly meeting Thursday and granted travel time for Bill Hall, director, to the annual Industrial Development Conference April 13 and 14 in Jefferson City.

After approval of the Jefferson City trip Hall announced he had been invited to witness the launch of Apollo 16 at Cape Kennedy, Fla. Hall said he was asked to attend the launch as a representative of Sedalia by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), which will pay most of the expenses involved. The board further granted Hall permission to call on three industrial prospects in Georgia and Alabama In other action the board voted to set aside June 11 through 17 for Industrial Appreciation Week. June 15 was selected as the date for the Industrial Banquet. Hall said the Manufacturers Association of Pettis County will present awards to a mid-management Bond Praises supervisor, an employe and a line employe at the banquet.

Hall reminded the board "it is time for us to think about selecting new board members at large." Hall said new members will be nominated by present board members. Later the present board will elect the new members from those nominated earlier. The election will take place in May and the new members will attend their first meeting in June.

The salaries of Layer, Rendleman and Brown were hiked to $45,000, from $38,000, last November. Derge, former executive vice president at Indiana University, replaced Layer at a salary of $50,000. The chairman of the SIU board, Harold Fischer of Granite City, says the board's legal counsel will ask the IRS for an opportunity to explain the salary jumps. He said they were not just raises, but represented remuneration for changes of positions for the four men.

Sedalia Kiwanians heard an appeal to get involved in the S. political system this year, at their meeting Thursday noon at the Bothwell hotel.

Chuck Lawrence, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke on political facts and issues facing the U.S. voter this year. He also presented a color slide production of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, "It's Up to You

Lawrence said more than 47 million eligible voters failed to cast ballots in 1968. He said nationally only 60.2 per cent off eligible voters do so, with Missouri voters having an even worse record.

The slide program pointed out that there will be 25 million newly-enfranchised voters this year, due to ratification of the recent Constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18. Patterns of population growth in the South and West were also analyzed, showing the shifting trends in state representation in Congress and presidential delegate strength

Dear Reader - There is no yes or no answer to your question. Dear Reader - Unless you have liver damage, stomach ulcers, or other medical problems that cause you difficulties, there is no reason that you couldn't take a little bit of wine at night. Some people find this very useful in helping

It doesn't. unfortunately, do anything else that is particularly good for the circulation. In truth the person who uses too much alcohol in any form can even damage the heart muscle, but this occurs only in individuals who take considerably more than a glass of wine with their meals or at bedtime. You could use any of the wines that you find in your local supermarkets or liquor stores. Most of the table wines and the dessert wines are approximately 19 per cent alcohol by volume.

Owners Turn to Bowie Kuhn

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball players continued their strike today as two owners called on Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to take action to end the week-long walkout

"The commissioner is going to have to intervene." says owner Bob Short of the Texas Rangers, who recommends that Kuhn take an iron-fisted stand and order the players back to work. "I know that he has been reluctant to take sides, but he's the only person left who can solve this.

"He may not think he has the power, but I believe he does. He had the power to keep me in Washington, D.C., although he told me that he chose not to use it." Short added, referring to his franchise switch from Washington to Texas this past winter.

Calvin Griffith, president of the Minnesota Twins, is on Short's side. He, too, thinks the commissioner should make his

'If Kuhn doesn't step into it, the only solution I can see is for players to call off the strike." said Griffith.

That doesn't seem too likely immediately, based on recent

Chief negotiators met Thursday in a long, but fruitless discussion in an attempt to end the first general strike in baseball history, now in its seventh day.

'We are not close to any settlement," declared Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players' As-

Another meeting is scheduled for today in the dispute over pension benefits between Miller and John Gaherin, the owners' chief negotiator. But even if they settle, chances are the season won't start before Monday because teams have postponed weekend games.

The situation became more involved with a report that the presidents of the two major leagues would order players locked out from practicing in stadiums. Neither American League President Joe Cronin nor National League President Chub Feeney were immediately available for comment, however.

Some baseball parks have been made available by owners to the strike-bound players.

"I didn't know that was an area of conflict," said Miller, referring to the reported lockout.

Miller said he is willing to submit the painful dispute to binding arbitration.

The strike, which forced postponement of the scheduled Wednesday opening of the regular season, was triggered by the owners' refusal to meet players' demands for a 17 per cent increase in pension benefits. The boost is way above the $490,000 the owners offered. "The owners have clearly refused to bargain in good faith." said Miller Thursday. "We've said 'we'll go your way on two of the most important things- we'll accept a one-year contract and we'll reduce the amount of the pension contribution'."

But, Miller said, the owners' answer was: "We won't discuss pensions with you. Renew the contract with no change!'

The owners, in a related development late Thursday, turned down a request by Cincinnati Reds player representative Jim Merritt for eight players to negotiate directly with the eightmember owners Player Relations Committee.

Merritt made the proposal to Cincinnati President Francis L. Dale, a member of the owners negotiating committee, during a session between the Reds' players and the club management. Basically, the committee felt that eight could not speak for 24 just as one could not," said Dale. Although the chief negotiators spent a long day in "frank discussion" Thursday, Miller said the session didn't provide any break in the situation.

Sparks exploded between Miller and Cincinnati General Manager Bob Hosam Thursday as the two issued statements in a verbal cross-fire.

"There would be no strike if it were not for Marvin Miller," said Howsam in Cincinnati. "He has not played one inning as a professional player. He has never worked for a baseball club. I challenge his knowledge of baseball to represent to the players the need for a strike. (Miller's) background is in the field of labor relations, not baseball. Money seems to be his only concern. Baseball is not the steel industry and he can't use the tactics of a steel negotiator.'

Miller countered: "Mr. Howsam's thinking still is 30 years behind the time.

In a related development, vice president Frank Cashen of the Baltimore Orioles said that if the strike continues another week, the 1972 schedule will have to be shortened. He said it "wouldn't be practical to make up that many lost games."

May Switch Sugar Bowl To Dec. 31

KANSAS CITY (AP) - The Sugar Bowl football game. played Jan. 1 for years, likely will become a Dec. 31 night contest, and more teams may compete for the national college basketball championship.

Sugar Bowl officials have asked the NCAA to certify the classic for the night of Dec. 31, effective this year when the game would be played on Sunday night.

Snead, winner of three Masters and more than 140 tournaments in a career dating back 35 years, is not being taken lightly by the two younger men who flank him going into Friday's second round.

'Surprised at Snead?" Nicklaus, 32, repeated a question. 'I'm never surprised to see Sam anywhere. He is capable of winning a tournament every time he tees up the ball."

Palmer was asked how he viewed the super star structure at the head of the 84-man field.

Clancy's underdog Leafs upset the Bruins 4-3 in sudden death overtime Thursday night to square the best-of-7 quarterfinal at one game apiece. Jim Harrison's 30-foot slap shot beat Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers with the winning goal at 2:58 of the overtime.

We played it tough all the way," said Clancy after the Leafs won by overcoming a 2-0 Boston lead. "We deserved the win. When you beat the Bruins in Boston you're beating a great hockey club.

Minnesota beat St. Louis 6-5 in another sudden death overtime quarter-final to go ahead of the Blues 2-0. Chicago and New York also won to take 2-0 leads in the other quarter-finals. The Black Hawks shaded Pittsburgh 3-2 and the Rangers whacked Montreal 5-2.

The third game in each series will be played Saturday, but at different sites with New York at Montreal, Boston at Toronto, Chicago at Pittsburgh and Minnesota at St. Louis.

Bill Goldsworthy got the winning goal for Minnesota at 1:36 of the overtime against the Blues. The North Stars survived a three-goal outburst by Frank St. Marseille of the Blues.

The Professor won the heart lead with his king and proceeded to lay down the ace of spades. Then he led the ten of clubs and let it ride.

East won with the king. He thought for a while before leading another heart. This play turned out to be a mild mistake because the Professor proceeded to run off all dummy's clubs to discard all his three diamonds and make an overtrick.

Of course, West trumped the last club but he had to trump it with the king.

"Golly," said the student.

"How did you know not to take the trump finesse?" "I didn't know anything at all about it. As a matter of fact I thought that my failure to take it was going to cost me some tricks. The odds certainly favored East having the king of spades as part of his opening bid. However, I put temptation aside and played to make my contract. Give East the king of spades and there was no way I could be set.

"Now look at the actual layout. If I had finessed the spade West would win and spade West would win and lead a diamond to give the defense four tricks."

"Of course!" said the student. "One more question.
Why did you win the first trick in your own hand?"

"To avoid temptation," replied the Professor. "I like to finesse and wanted to be in my own hand so I couldn't."

Scientist Claims Laughter Is Bad

Dear Ann: The doctors are at it again. Every other week they come up with something that is harmful to Mr. & Mrs. John Q. Public. If it isn't cholesterol it's smog. Now they tell us to stop laughing. A scientist at Stanford University says laughing can be hazardous to your health. He claims laughter disrupts normal breathing and can contribute to strokes in people who are susceptible. He also points out that there is no literature detailing the massive muscular activity associated with laughter and we have much to learn in this area. I have always believed that laughter was good for people and now this. Any comment, Ann? What do your experts say?

— Afraid To Hear A Joke

Dear Afraid: My experts say go ahead and laugh - if you can find something to laugh about these days. (And P.S. Pass it on, will ya'?)

Dear Ann Landers: I earnestly believe that every person has the right to be nutty on one subject. My subject is cigaret smoking. I've always hated it — especially in women. After the Surgeon General's report established an indisputable link between cigarets and lung cancer, I was sure millions of people would quit smoking. But they didn't.

Now, a doctor in Redding, California, has discovered something that will probably have a far greater impact on women than the fear of lung cancer. The doctor has proven that cigaret smoking can result in premature wrinkles. It has been known for years that nicotine causes the small blood vessels in the skin to contract. Over a period of time this could produce wrinkling. So please print my letter, Ann, and let's hope that by appealing to the vanity of heavy smokers we can get them to put an end to the self-destruction. — A Person Who Loves People

Dear Person: I love people, too, but I learned long ago that you can't save people from hooked on smack. And, in addition to the physical addiction there's a psychological problem. He must like himself well enough to go through the discomfort of kicking his habit. Unless the addict is willing to suffer the pains of withdrawal, nothing can

Dear Ann Landers: Two months ago I borrowed my girlfriend's floor cleaner. While I was setting up the cleaner it caught on fire. I called her immediately and told her what had happened. I explained I had not done anything wrong - that there must have been a short someplace and I would take it to the repair shop for her at Three weeks later the man from the shop called to say the price for repairing the cleaner would be $40. I telephoned my friend and told her about the repair charge and asked her how much she had paid for it new. She said, "Sixty dollars." I told her I'd take the cleaner to another shop and get a second estimate. Her reply was, "I think you ought to buy me .a new machine." I was shocked. Yesterday I bought a new floor cleaner for her and it cost $79. Did I do the right thing or am I a fool? - Flat Broke In friendship worth $79? If you had not replaced the floor cleaner, then it would be curtains. The burden is on the borrower, not the lender. Granted, your nose is slightly out of joint, but if I were in your place I'd rather it be my nose than hers. You did the right thing and I salute you.

Dear Flat: Was the girl's

U.S. Planes Pound Enemy Targets In North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — In the biggest aerial onslaught since the bombing halt nearly 31/2 years ago, large forces of U.S. planes pounded enemy targets Thursday in North Vietnam. Other allied planes raked enemy positions on South Vietnam's northern front after a break in bad weather.

For the first time in the war. North Vietnamese fired a surface-to-air missile from South Vietnamese soil. Witnesses on objective of their eight-day offensive on the

the northern front said the missile was fired at an allied plane from one of the abandoned South Vietnamese bases. It missed the plane.

Aground, bloody battles were reported 60-75 miles north of Saigon, where the North Vietnamese opened a new front Wednesday. North Vietnamese tightened their lines close to Quang Tri, the main northern front. But the South Vietnamese brought up heavy reinforcements.

Official U.S. sources said the raids on North Vietnam, ordered by President Nixon, were aimed at nearly every type of target. The main area was Quang Binh, North Vietnam's southernmost province. and the enemy half of the demilitarized defenses in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam, and the troops and supply reserves that could be fed into the offensive in the northern front of South Vietnam.

They cited the buildup of antiaircraft

Sources said the targets included fuel. ammunition and other supply depots, longrange artillery guns firing across the DMZ, troop positions, trucks moving southward with war supplies, truck parks, surface to air missile batteries, antiaircraft artillery sites and MIG air bases.

There was no immediate announcement of results of the bombing on the North Vietnamese targets.

The North Vietnamese radio claimed 10 U.S. jets had been shot down. The U.S. Command refused to say whether any planes had been lost.

It was reported that the U.S. Command brought nearly all its 700 planes in the Indochina theater into the bombing of North Vietnam, the attacks on the northern front, and against enemy supply lines in

The blows were the most punishing since the peak days before President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam in November 1968. In those days there were massive strikes ranging from north of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, to the demilitarized zone about 300 miles to the

The U.S. Command said this week's attacks on North Vietnam were "in response to the invasion of the Republic of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese forces who crossed the demilitarized zone." It added the raids also were to help protect U.S. forces. The strikes will be of limited duration, the command said.

Three U.S. destroyers offshore bombarded North Vietnamese positions along the demilitarized zone.

The planes used in the big strike in the North came from three carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin and from bases in South Vietnam and Thailand.

On the Saigon front, reports said three North Vietnamese divisions had been committed to the drive and had surrounded the district town of Loc Ninh. 75 miles north of the capital. An Loc, capital of Binh Long Province 15 miles

Hitchhiking Girl Abducted After Companion Beaten

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS - A 19-year-old girl was abducted near here about 7 p.m. Thursday after she and a hitchhiking companion were picked up by two unidentified men, according to the Highway Patrol.

Ira E. Schwartz, 22, Amherst, N.Y., and a female companion, D. Ross, address unknown, were picked up and Schwartz was beaten and let out of the car in the Sweet Springs area, according to the patrol. He was taken to the Sweet Springs Community Hospital by Concordia police and treated for minor cuts and abrasions before being released, according to a hospital spokesman.

The patrol told The Democrat-Capital the couple was believed to have been headed east when they were picked up. At Capital presstime Thursday night authorities were still looking for Miss Ross and her abductors.

Claims Coalition Government Goal

PARIS (AP) — Claming major victories in the offensive in South Vietnam, the Viet Cong's chief delegate to the Paris peace talks said Thursday the over-all aim is to set up a coalition government in Saigon.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh also insisted the United States return to the peace table. She and the North Vietnamese delegation reiterated charges that the United States had sabotaged the peace talks.

Mrs. Binh claimed at a news conference that South Vietnamese and American forces in the two northern provinces of South Vietnam had suffered heavy defeats during the offensive that began there March 30. There are no U.S. combat forces known to be in the battle area.

She in effect denied a suggestion that the Viet Cong might establish a provisional government seat in the northern part of South Vietnam, saying that such a capital had long ago been set up in a "liberated zone" of South Vietnam.

"That is why we have no need to liberate other regions in order to install the seat of our government," she said. "What we want and what we are doing is to liberate all of South Vietnam from American aggression to permit a government of national con-

Whiteman AFB Missile Crews Defend Title

(Democrat-Capital Service)

KNOB NOSTER (AP) - Members of the 351st Strategic Missile Wing at Whiteman AFB departed Thursday for Vandenberg AFB, Calif., where they are participating in the 1972 Strategic Air Command Missile Combat Competition through April 14.

"Olympic Arena '72," title of this year's competition, will see Whiteman's 351st attempt to win the title "Best in SAC" for the second consecutive year.

Whiteman AFB, one of nine SAC missile wings, captured the title in 1967, first year of the annual competition, and repeated last year. It also had the Best Minuteman

On Nonpublic Schools

No Speedy Solutions

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - President Nixon said Thursday he was "irrevocably committed" to relieving what he called "a crisis of the first magnitude" facing nonpublic education, but he promised no speedy solutions.

"Too much is at stake for us to act in haste," the President told about 11,000 persons attending a Catholic educators conference. "We share a great obligation—to improve the public school system of this country while preserving the nonpublic schools—and in that we shall not fail."

The difficulties include the constitutional questions of church-state relationship which arise whenever the government proposes to aid parochial schools, and congressional resistance to new taxes in an election year.

Nixon warned that the collapse of nonpublic education would jeopardize the public schools, threaten the fate of the cities and undermine the moral fiber of the

President To Visit The Shah of Iran

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon will visit the Shah of Iran in Tehran May 30-31 after his eight-day stay in the Soviet Union.

A brief, simultaneous announcement Thursday by the White House and the Tehran government confirmed earlier reports that Nixon will stop at the important Mideast country after his Moscow summit talks.

U.S. officials said it still is undecided just where else Nixon may pause on his return to Washington, though they tended to rule out Ireland because of the political tension vision in question. Michigan's famed Judge Cooley once called this rule the very "polestar" of constitutional navigation.

The presidential decision to visit Iran underscores U.S. interest in fostering continued excellent U.S. relations with the strategically located nation of 30 million people which borders the Soviet Union and which is a major power in the Middle East.

The purpose of this wholesome principle manifestly was to prevent judges from substituting their own notions of desirable policy for the wishes of the people themselves. What did a Congress mean when it approved a resolution of amendment? What did the ratifying states intend the amendment to accomplish? These used to be the overriding questions.

as judicial restraint.

Well, alas for judicial restraint. The Supreme Court a couple of weeks ago took the battered Fourteenth Amendment and gave it one more belting around. The amendment was framed in 1866 and ratified (or so it was decreed) in 1868. But a majority of the court last month cared not a fig for the rule of meaning and intention.

It would come as a stunning surprise to the gentlemen who framed and ratified the Fourteenth to know that they then intended to create "the constitutional right of married persons to use contraceptives." They would be staggered to learn that one purpose of their handiwork was to prevent the states from imposing a one-year residency requirement on new voters. But this is what the high court has held.

Most of us had understood, back in the days of strict construction, that the Fourteenth Amendment had but one broad purpose: It was intended to prohibit the states from denying the black man certain civil rights the states had denied him in the past. These civil rights did not even include the black man's right to vote; that had to

The search for honest answers was known be protected by the Fifteenth nearly two years later.

> Surely, we may believe, the Fourteenth Amendment never was intended to function as a kind of soft-clay Constitution within the Constitution itself. But that is what it has become over the past 50 years. The judges have molded its words to suit themselves. What the amendment says, in its key provision, is that no state shall deprive any person "of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

> Behold, what marvels are wrought in the name of due process! See what our judicial magicians can contrive with the incantation of equal protection!

William Baird lectured on birth control three years ago at Boston University. At the close of his lecture, he gave a young woman a sample package of vaginal foam. He was arrested and convicted for dispensing a medicinal article without a license to do so. On March 22, over Chief Justice Burger's lonesome dissent, the court voted 6-1 to reverse his conviction. The young woman had been denied her liberty without due process of law.

The residency case came from Tennessee, where the state had imposed a one-year requirement on new voters. A Vanderbilt law professor. James F. Blumstein. newly arrived in Nashville. challenged the requirement. By the same 6-1 division, the court on March 21 held that Tennessee had no substantial or compelling reason for such a rule; and this being so. Blumstein could not be denied the equal protection of law extended to other persons.

Now, the Massachusetts law may have been foolish; but judges are not supposed to be concerned with folly, but with law. Tennessee's durational requirement may have been unfair. This is not the point. Was it unconstitutional? Was the Tennessee law within the state's power to enact? In 1904 a unanimous court had upheld precisely such a requirement.

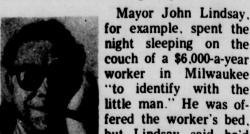

Who has amended the Fourteenth Amendment? Not the people. Only the judges. And let it be said another ten thousand times: This they have no right to

Political Stunts Escalate

WASHINGTON - When you get right down to it, the Democratic primary races are really a fight for press space and free television time. Because there are so many candidates in the race and none of them has said anything new since they started running, it's very hard for a presidential aspirant to get on the tube or in the papers unless he does something unique.

Quality Education Already Suffering

The defeat of the school tax levy Sedalia District 200.

Now the district is faced with opening and running the new junior high school next fall with funds inadequate to do the job properly.

To those parents expecting to send their youngsters to public kindergarten next September. there was also notice that there will be none, due to the tax levy defeat.

As if more bad news were needed, we got it Tuesday when the school board was informed by the North Central Association that Smith-Cotton will lose its accreditation next year unless four major areas of deficiency are cleared up. And they can't be without a higher tax levy, school administrators say.

All this plus the fact that the school system as a whole is now rated AA, instead of AAA as previously, and the handwriting is deal.

> Based on unofficial returns, the 65-cent school levy increase failed Tuesday by 521 votes. Surely between now and next fall (when we would hope the levy will be given another chance) at least 522 voters can be convinced of the urgent need for the money it takes to have better schools in Sedalia.

> In the meantime the school board can review the situation and tighten its belt wherever possible, a task that it already has underway. But the fact remains that this will not begin to eliminate the need for a tax increase.

> Sedalians are beginning to get the kind of education they are paying for, with their lowest-in-thestate tax levy. But let's not delude ourselves into thinking it's a good

Dita: 'Major' Donor To GOP War Chest

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — From the confidential files of President Nixon's campaign finance committee, we have obtained a list of "major donors" with ITT lobbyist Dita Beard's name on it.

Down the list is also the name of ITT director Felix Rohatyn, who lobbied with the top brass at the Justice Department to drop three antitrust suits against ITT.

The ITT pair are listed with such multimillionaires as Robert O. Anderson, Henry Ford II. Helen Clay Frick, Richard M. Scaife and W. Clement Stone, who have contributed heavily to the Republican cause in the past.

Yet Mrs. Beard, who worked as a secretary before she became a $29,000-ayear lobbyist, is clearly not in their financial class. It is doubtful that she, with five children to support and medical bills to pay, has ever made any "major" donations to the GOP out of her own pocketbook.

Her name, incidentally, is mis spelled as "Deida Beard" on the GOP list of millionaire contributors. But her affiliation with International Telephone and Telegraph is spelled out quite accurately. Her address is given as 1707 L St., N.W., Washington, D.C., which happens to be the location of ITT's Washington office.

The implications, since she has no money of her own, is that she can raise money through her ITT connections for President Nixon's campaign. It would be against the law for ITT to contribute directly to the

The confidential list was drawn up from "known major donors" to Republican senatorial campaigns in 1970. It was thought the same people would be good prospects to approach for contributions to the Nixon campaign this year. This list doesn't give the amounts the "known major donors" passed out to GOP candidates in 1970, nor does it mention how 1972. Insiders say, however, that the President's chief money grubber. Maurice Stans, has used the list to raise hundreds of thousands of dollars.

To hide the contributions. Stans has set up phony financial fronts in the District of Columbia. These go by such names as 'Balanced Society Committee," "Better Society Committee." "Effective Government Council," "Good Government "Government Reform Committee," and "Loyal Americans for Good Government."

Most of these consist merely of bank accounts, which have been opened in the prestigious First National Bank of Washington. In some cases, bank employes have been pressed into service as treasurers of these spurious citizens

It would take subpoena power to find out exactly who has contributed how much to which committees. But the money from all the bank accounts, like oil from hundreds of pipes, will empty into one main pipeline to fuel the President's re-election

We asked Stans a series of questions about his major donors, but he refused all comment except to say that he had nothing to do with the 1970 campaign. In fairness, it should be mentioned that the Democrats use the same techniques to raise campaign funds. Indeed, some of the big-money men, listed as major GOP donors, have also made substantial contributions to Democratic candidates. ITT's Felix Rohatyn, for example, has managed to find funds for Republican and Democratic candidates alike. He made a $2,500 donation, for example, to the presidential campaign of Sen. Ed Muskie.

Kleindienst, the then deputy attorney general. The same day, Rohatyn had two

It was Rohatyn who dropped by the Justice Department last April 29 to discuss ITT's antitrust problems with Richard Mitchell, who had disassociated himself from the ITT suits because of a conflict of Everyone involved swore under oath that the ITT cases never came up when Rohatyn and Mitchell met. The senators were asked to believe that an ITT director. in town to discuss the most crucial lawsuits in the company's history, would float freely from floor to floor in the Justice Department never telling one official the subject of his meeting with another.

ITT President Harold Geneen, himself. also called upon Mitchell. Both men testified that they didn't mention the ITT cases but merely discussed antitrust philosophy.

The senators were expected to believe these two unlikely philosophers, both brusque, busy men, got together for no useful purpose. For, taken at their word, they didn't talk about ITT and, in any event, Mitchell could have done nothing to help ITT since he had disqualified himself. As ITT's high muck-a-muck, Geneen is paid more than three times President Nixon's salary. He isn't the sort who would make a special trip to discuss antitrust philosophy, without mentioning his own cases, with a man he knew would do nothing to help him.

In May, Geneen also pledged to Republican officials in San Diego that ITT would put up $400,000 - or whatever portion of this amount was needed - to bring the Republican convention to San Diego. A check for $100,000 subsequently was made out to the convention bureau.

This would appear to be a violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. which states categorically: "It is unlawful ... for any corporation whatever, or any labor organization, to make a contribution or expenditure in connection (with) ... any ... political convention."

It will be interesting to see what President Nixon's law-and-order much they may be willing to contribute in meetings with then Attorney General John administration does about this

Open House Date Set By Department

The Sedalia Water Board voted Wednesday evening to set aside May 21 as the date for the open house of the water department's plant on Flat Creek.

Herb Taylor, general manager of the water department, said Congressman William Randell had notified him he would be in Kansas City May 20 and would be able to attend the open house the following day.

The board announced invitations to the open house will be sent to Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton and Gov. Warren Hearnes. Other dignitaries will also be invited, including Mayor Jerry Jones and former mayors Julian Bagby and Ralph Walker.

It was also announced the water department will be awarded a safety citation at the American Water Works Association (AWWA) Convention. L. C. Heuerman will accept the award for the department and receive the water works operators award for himself.

The local department is also planning to host the Mid-west sewage conference April 20. The conference will convene at 8 p.m. at Convention Hall.

Taylor presented a letter from D. P. Proudfit, president of Black and Veatch. consulting engineers, urging the local utility to become a member of AWWA. At present Taylor and Heuerman are members of the organization. Taylor said the only benefit he could see to joining the group would be the chance to obtain the AWWA book of standards for water department use. The board voted to delay action on the measure until they could study it more thoroughly

Aldermen, Board Members Selected

(Democrat-Capital Service)

KNOB NOSTER - Three aldermen and two members of the R-VIII district board of education were elected by a light turnout of voters here Tuesday

First Ward incumbent Elmer Eckhoff was uncontested in his campaign and Second Ward incumbent Bill Schouten edged James Walsh by four votes, 15 to 11. Newcomer Delbert Bearce won in the Third Ward over George Taraba, 22-16.

Melvin Foster was re-elected to serve on the R-VIII school board, receiving 154 votes Lee Gatschet was also voted to board membership with 152 tallies. Mrs. Dixie Lee Zachgo trailed with 26 votes. Foster's term had expired, along with that of Cletus Tucker, who declined to run for re-

Company Reports Theft Of Truck

A 1962 Ford one-ton truck was stolen from the Harvey Brothers Implement Co., 305 West Main, Wednesday night, it was reported to police Thursday.

A company employe said the truck. which has the firm's name printed on each door, was noticed missing at 8 a.m. when the firm opened for business. It was reported that the truck was parked on the company's lot with the keys inside.

Sedalia police advised the Missouri Highway Patrol in Lee's Summit of the incident and an investigation is in progress.

Stolen Car Is Found Burning North of City

A car stolen sometime after 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Sedalia was found completely destroyed by fire about two hours later four miles north of town. Officials suspect arson.

Jimmie P. Hansen, 419 West Main, told police his 1968 Buick was parked and locked at his residence at the time of the Members of the Pettis County Sheriff's office located the burning car in a ditch next to a gravel road off Route H north of Georgetown about 10 p.m.

According to the sheriff's office, the blaze had destroyed the car by the time the Pettis County Fire Department arrived. The sheriff's office added the car had apparently not been involved in an accident since there was no visible damage to the Buick other than that caused by the fire.

Future Solution Proposed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - Two senators proposed Thursday a possible way for future legislatures to avoid the kind of appropriations logiam that has tied up the budget bills this year.

Sens. Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, and Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, said they would offer their proposed solution to the Senate Judiciary Committee next Tuesday in the hope it can be passed and get on the ballot next November.

They would extend the length of the legislative session in odd-numbered years and set later dates for the short, even-year session in an effort to get later figures on the stae's revenue prospects for the next fiscal year.

Under the new annual session plan this year, the legislature must quit work on bills by April 30 but the appropriation bills must be passed by April 22. In the six-month session of odd years, the money bills must be passed by June 8.

In the current session, the budget bills are tied up in the Senate Appropriations Committee in a disagreement over how much money will be available to fund them—something no one knows for sure at this point.

Six committee members have even been talking about letting the bills wither and die in committee so the governor would have to call a special session before July 1 when the new fiscal year starts.

By that time, they figure, the amount of this year's income tax collections would be pretty well known, and they could make a more realistic estimate of what money will be available in the 1972-73 fiscal year.

Under the Webster-Young plan, the session in even years would run from March 1 to June 30 instead of from January to the end of April. In odd years, it would extend from January to June 30, the same as before the annual session plan was adopted.
